Week 7.12.20- 15.1.21	Core Value Focus Knowledge and Wisdom
Scripture Link “If you listen to me you will know right, just and fair. You will know what to do. You will become wise and your knowledge will give you pleasure” Proverbs 10:9-10	Message from the Principal The development of knowledge forms the backbone of our teaching and learning here at Queen Elizabeth’s. Equipping our students for the wider world where they can succeed in their chosen paths and flourish as individuals is our mission and central to our “QEA Why”. But using that knowledge in a wise way is also important to us. Developing as a global citizen that makes positive contributions to the world around us is key to the work we do here. Developing knowledge and applying that knowledge with actions that show wisdom is the “QEA Way”.
Message from the Chaplain Daniel was the most gifted and successful administrators in the history of government. He had such Wisdom and Knowledge that he survived plots to take his life and rose to be second in command of the ancient kingdom of Babylon. Even when Nebuchadnezzar was no longer in power Daniel managed to be survive the transition to a new king – a lasting influence that was and remains unheard of in political history. Daniel’s wisdom had a huge depth and breadth and his impact was equally impressive. In today’s climate we may look at scientists to guide our knowledge and wisdom. One scientist who has concerned himself with the smallest aspect of science and technology is James Tour. A top ten chemist in the whole world, James Tour’s research means that nanomachines are becoming a reality. These two people had wisdom that is incredible but yet they dealt with different topics and were thousands of years apart. Nevertheless they shared something in	Discussion points Why is developing knowledge important to you? How can knowledge help you as a global citizen? Are knowledge and wisdom the same thing? Why is it important to develop wisdom from the experiences we have? How can our experiences develop us as individuals? common they believed in God. Both cite God as both the inspiration and the source of their wisdom. God promises that he will give wisdom to everyone (James 1.5). May we ask him for wisdom as we learn, as we live and as we reflect on the Christmas message of Jesus.

Father God, help us to thrive in our learning our love and our friendships knowing right and wrong

Help us to see the opportunities to be inspired and to inspire others to choose the good

Thank you for the example and inspiration of Jesus your Son

Amen
